Who we are

Kingdom Paints is a division of Adelogue Holdings, a limited company incorporated in Zimbabwe under the Company's Act (Chapter 24:03). The Company opened its doors to business on 1 June 2009 bringing together in the process well known personalities with requisite expertise in the paint industry. The company brought at its formation professionals in technical, marketing and managerial experience spanning over many years in its promoters and other support staff collectively.

We offer to the market a wide range of paints and, paint application services, supporting and related products. Our structure, membership and size, at and after inception, reflect the desire to be the preferred, leading and reliable manufacturer of high quality paint products and painting services, cost effectively, efficiently and at very competitive prices.

Kingdom Paints has carefully considered and designed a flexible structure, which should facilitate effective communication, and ensure efficient and effective service delivery. We are confident that the structure devised and adopted, and the staffing of our operations will meet the demand and expectations of the ever-changing business world.
